is a heavy stock. That's the only reason we've got to offer for one of the greatest sacrifices in price we've ever made. We want to be perfectly frank with you. We have had a good season with BOYS' OVER-COATS. Never a better one. But maybe we built our expectations too high. We have been disappointed in what we had hoped to do. So, while we've SOLD MORE, WA'VE GOT MORE RECAUSE WE ROUGHT MORE! They mustn't stay_that's all there is to it. You know what determination means with us. We forget all about cost-it blindfolds us to consequences and almost turns your pennies into dollars in their power of purchase. We've taken every SINGLE and DOUBLE-BREASTED BOYS' OVERCOAT that we've got left in our $9, $10, $12 and $13.50 grades and given them a price that mocks their real value. You may take your choice of any of them for

There are sizes to fit boys from 14 to 19 years. For style and finish they're up to OUR USUAL STANDARD-There's no getting beyond that. We always fill each grade full of quality. If we were willing to carry stock over like most stores—you might never hear of such an "undoing" in price. But we won't do that at any cost.

This sale will begin TOMORROW MORN-ING. You'll get the best choice by taking the first-and while the sale shall last until we get the stock down to the level it ought to be-whether it takes one week or four-'tisn't likely it will "spin out" very long. $9, $10, $12 and $13.50 qualities for $8.25 will surely make "quick" sales—especially in this "biting" weather

It is the variety of patterns that's running low. But they are all serviceable and sensible-and you can't miss it taking any one of these coats. $2.98 for a choice. It is little enough to "piece out" the winter with.

STAR SHIRT WAISTS.

A mountain can't be moved in a minute-But if you saw that immense lot of STAR SHIRT WAISTS that we got from the makers last week when the special sale beganyou ought to see it now. It shows the signs of a slege. It isn't "knee-high" to what it was. Well, the STAR WAISTS never need any urging-The majority of mothers are their avowed friends-and they're satisfied to buy 'em and lay 'em away till needed when the prices are so cheap. They are all fancy percales-laundered-Sizes 3 to 14-Fatterns that were designed by the makers themselves-We've made two lots of them

Third: They may be worn during three months of this season—until the end of March. Fourth; A seection is offered from a stock complete in every sense of the word. A GLANCE HERE AND THERE.

These Jackets marked $10 are of English cheviot with satin lining, fur fronts and collar. The discount brings the price to only $8. These $12 Jackets may be claimed for $9.60 each. The materials, lining, fur trimming, and, as important, the style and fit, prolaim them worth $15, as prices prevail generally. These English Box Coats marked $9.50 are to go at $7.60. The material, the big buttons and that inexpressible something about the cut and fit tell you they are English. These 39-inch Hip-seam Coats with braid binding would not do Jiedfern injustice. $10 is a low price to mark on them. The discount lowers the price to $8.

It is notorious that the Palais Royal's $5 Jackets are superior in materials, style and fit. Especial favorites are the Reefers, with big buttons and side pockets. $5 less 20 per cent discount is only $4. These Londonmade Coats are equally a bargain, though marked $17. They are 42 inches long, double-bressted, satin-lined throughout and English all over. The discount lowers the price to $13.60. And what a collection of Misses' and Children's Jackets and Uisters, many of them marked at prices less than cost of materials. And yet marked at prices less than cost of materials. And yet you may claim 20 per cent discount. Of course the imported Tea Gowns and Wrappers will be admired, but your greatest praise should be given those of domestic make. THE WAR IN KANSAS.

Forty Desperate Men Barricaded in Springfield Court House. Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 7.—A special dispatch from Arkalon, Kan., to the Journal says: Forty as determined and desperate men as can be found on the border and armed to the teeth are barricaded behind the walls of the court house at Springfield. Forty soldiers, equally as determined, are trying to dislodge them and arrest them. A number of soldiers are guarding three of the murderous mob arrested yesterday and are under orders to shoot them before they are surrendered to their companions in crime, who will probably sould and are under orders to shoot them before they are surrendered to their companions in crime, who will probably endeavor to release them at any moment. The soldiers are still guarding the house of Judge Botkin from the attack of enemies who are bent upon taking his life. Such was the situation last night at the scene of the atrocious killing of Sheriff Dunn Tuesday. At 2:45 o'clock vesterday afternoon Adjt. Gen. Roberts reached there with seventy-five troops. In the afternoon Gen. Roberts is to assist the only constituted authorities in the execution of the law. He is not here, he says, to take anybody's part on any side. At Minesola word was received that the Woodsdale people had taken possession of the court house at Springfield and that Judge Botkin was at Arkalon awaiting reinforcements to help him open court. At Mead it was found that Botkin had asked that town for help, chiefly in the way of arms.

At Arkalon Judge Botkin and his followers were awaiting the arrival of the train having on board the body of Sheriff Dunn. All were armed with Winchesters. Judge Botkin himself carried a big six-shooter in his cartridge beltand many others were similarly armed. Botkin's first speech to Adjutant General Roberts was that he wanted arms. He would rather have fifty armed and mounted deputies than all the militiamen in Kansas. Botkin has wired the governor again to send 100 stands of arms. He also wants the troops kept here for three weeks and the county placed under martial law. Gen. Roberts has telegraphed to the governor

LAWRENCE IRVING'S BASH ACT. No Immediate Danger of Death From His

hearsal of "The Merchant of Venice," by Benson's Shakspeare Touring Company, in which play young Irving played the part of Lorenzo, is progressing favorably. The doctors in attendance upon the wounded man held a long consultation this morning and discussed the patient's chances of life. At the termination of their deliberations they announced that there was no immediate danger, but that the patient must be kept quiet and away from all visitors likely to put irritating questions to him.

The bullet, which is judged to have penetrated the apex of the lung, has been probed for, but up to the present has not been accurately located. It is concluded that the leaden missile is lodged in the muscles of the back. The charitable spinion formed of the case is that the young actor, who is most ambitious and desirous of succeeding in his profession, has overworked himself, and that he is consequently suffering from nervous prostration.

Young Lawrence seemed more cheerful than usual after the rehearsal referred to, and nobody imagined for a moment that anything was wrong with him until Mr. Hiphisley, a brother actor, heard the report of a revolver in a reom of the hotel where they were stopping occupied by Young Irving.

When Hiphisley burst open the door of his

When Hiphisley burst open the door of his comrade's room he found him lying, writhing with agony, across the bed, with blood stream-Young Irving, who has traveled a great deal in Russia, has been in the habit of carrying a revolver and is said by Mr. Benson, the manager of the theatrical company in which he holds a position, to have been absent-minded recently while engaged in his theatrical studies. Hence it is said that the pistol may have been discharged accidentally.

Much comment is made upon the manner in which Henry Irving, the young man's father, behaved after he heard the news of the shooting. The veteran actor was playing the charter.

behaved after he heard the news of the shooting. The veteran actor was playing the character of Cardinal Wolsey in "Henry VIII" at the Lyasum Theater when a dispatch containing the sad news was handed to him. Though deeply affected, Henry Irving managed to maintain his composure and continued throughout the evening to evoke loud applause by his masterly personation of the prelate fallen from power. It should be added, however, that the father was informed in the morning that his son was in no immediate danger. The shooting of young Irving is attracting much more attention than it otherwise would have done, owing to the popularity of his gifted father.

This money retained is 10 per cent of the amount due to the contractor for street sweeping during the past two or three months and amounts in the neighborhood of $2,500. The Commissioners retain this money because they hold Mr. Draney responsible for throwing up his garbage contract and want to secure the District as much as possible.

He lives near one of the large public parks, and on the night in question he returned home after making a few calls. He was not in the habit of drinking, so what little he indulged in that day put him in such a mental condition that he could not tell clearly the circumstances under which he was robbed of his suit of clothes. There was a watch and chain in his vest pocket. The thief not only took the intoxicated man's overcoat, but also his cutaway coat, vest and trousers, leaving the owner of the clothes out in the cold.

What the young man remembered of the affair would not help the officers in their investigation, but he did know that he was robbed and left out on his front doorstep. The door was opened by some one in the house and the victim of unfortunate circumstances was taken in. He told the inspector that there was a bruise on his face, and he thought it possible that he had been assaulted, and the inspector had an idea that he took off his clothes at the front door, thinking he was in his house, and that when he got cold he made noise enough to attract the attention of persons in the house.

Robberies Reported.
